Pauls Prison Prayers

Paul's prayer as recorded in verses 15-23 is an appeal that God would grant the Ephesians spiritual enlightenment and understanding of the blessings bestowed on them "in Christ" as outlined in verses 4-14. This request, of course, is not only to the Ephesian church but includes every believer from Paul's day until now.

Paul's prayer, begins with the expression, "For this reason ..." By these words, Paul is telling us that his prayer is based upon good reason, and that reason is the purpose of God, as previously described by Paul in the first two chapters of this epistle. The purposes of God are the basis for Paul's prayers.

Paul and Silas in Prison 16 Once when we were going to the place of prayer, we were met by a female slave who had a spirit by which she predicted the future. She earned a great deal of money for her owners by fortune-telling. 17 She followed Paul and the rest of us, shouting, "These men are servants of the Most High God, who are telling you the way to be saved." 18 She kept this up for many days.

Quite a few years ago I memorized some of Paul's prayers like Eph 1:17-19, Eph 3:16-21, etc. That alone reshaped how I pray. As time went on and I paid attention to what Paul prays for, my own prayers became more and more spiritual and less temporal, not that we shouldn't spend time petitioning for things related to the latter.

Paul prays that their lives will be filled with God -- which is another way to say "know him" and have "Christ dwell in your hearts." These are the ultimate prayers that shepherds pray for the flock in their care, whether it is a small group, or a class, or a congregation. These are also the kinds of prayers that one Christian prays for another.

These three prayers sort of sum up Paul's understanding of "abiding in Christ." As you make these prayers your own, and pray similar prayers often, God will bring changes to your heart that move you toward Christ-likeness. From Paul's example, we learn that we can ask God for the following: 1. Hope and the understanding of God's purpose for ...

In his former life, Paul was a well-to-do, highly respected, high-ranking Pharisee who vehemently hated and persecuted Christians. Then one day on the road to Damascus with permission in his hands to throw saints into jail, God knocked him off his high horse, blinded him, and revealed Himself to Paul. All that pride went in one moment, one God ...
